

Holly Gibbons

Holly has college degrees in business, information technology and art. She owns three businesses and she teaches many marketing, career, and personal development courses. Holly is passionate about helping companies and organizations be successful in their marketing / branding efforts. GBS Web Services, Holly's marketing company offers services such as website development, digital signage, social media marketing, video production, print publications, training and more. Holly promotes and teaches diversity and inclusion in the workplace and is enthusiastic about everything she does. As a photographer and an outdoor enthusiast Holly finds energy in nature. As a mom of three and grandmother of seven, she has experienced the realm of being a mom, entrepreneur, and balancing work / life.